

The Garden of Complete Being

Danger

Opportunity

MHO & WHEN MARK WHY

- Can't change the world but can I change a small bit of it
- Find A lyrical response in the face of the crisis (don't focus on what is wrong)
- Offer An inspiring alternative attempt to offer
- Reimagine what it means to be a human being living on a finite planet
- Redefine what abundance nourishment means

Motivations

Buddhism and Ecology share the principles of Conditionality and interdependence – To both this diagram will make complete sense. How can we deepen into this experience? More difficult in an urban environment?

INDIVIDUAL IT Objective Subjective thoughts, emotions, material body (including brain) memories, states of mind, and anything that you can see E or touch (or observe scientifiperceptions, and immediate sensations cally) in time and space E E R R WE ITS 0 0 R Intersubjective Interobjective shared values, meanings, systems, networks, techlanguage, relationships, nology, government, and and cultural background the natural environment COLLECTIVE